"The Hiſtory of the United States for the year 1796,"
In which the CHARGE OF SPECULATION againſt
ALEXANDER HAMILTON,
Late SECRETARY of the TREASURY, is FULLY REFUTED.
WRITTEN BY HIMSELF.
This publication preſents a conciſe ſtatement of the baſe means practiſed by the Jacobins of the United States to aſperſe the characters of thoſe perſons who are conſidered as hoſtile to their diſorganizing ſchemes. It alſo contains the correſpondence between Mr. Hamilton and Meſſrs. Monroe, Muhlenburgh and Venable, on the ſubject of the documents aforeſaid, and a ſeries of letters from James Reynolds and his wife to Mr. Hamilton, proving beyond the poſſibility of a doubt, that the connection between him and Reynolds, was the reſult of a daring conſpiracy on the part of the latter and his aſſociates to extort money.
☞ A diſcount of one third from the retail price will be made in favor of wholeſale purchaſers, for CASH. Orders to be addreſſed to Mr YOUNG.

PHILADELPHIA,
MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20.

For the GAZETTE of the UNITED STATES.

MR. FENNO,

Dr. Currie has asserted in the letters addressed to Mr. Wynkoop, inserted in your Gazette, upon the subject of the origin of the late epidemic, the following opinions:

1st. That intermitting and remitting fevers, the general offspring of vegetable putrefaction or marshy exhalation are never contagious.

2d. That the bilious yellow fever of all hot countries and seasons, is not a more violent species of the remitting fever of the same places, but essentially different therefrom, being a higher degree of the common typhus or hospital fever, and proceeding from the confinement of animal effluvia in dirty, hot places.

3. That no exhalations from putrid vegetables, ever produced a contagious fever.

As these positions are laid down in the face of facts published by the first authorities in medicine, and as it is of more consequence for the citizens to know the danger their diffusion annually exposes them to, than to be informed who will fill the vacancy in the executive directory in France, I shall take the pains of stating to the public, the authorities to prove that the whole of Dr. Currie's positions are totally false.

I shall also prove that Dr. Currie's late notions concerning imported contagious diseases, are directly contrary to those he formerly avowed in his "account of the diseases of America."

Dr. Claghorn in his account of the diseases in Minorca found tertian fevers infectious in that Island. "Tertian fevers of various forms appear among people of all ages, and spreading from one to another by contagion, they continue to increase till about the time of the autumnal equinox, when they rage with the utmost fury amongst persons of all ranks, whether natives or foreigners."

Dr. Clark, vol. 1. page 151. in his observations on the diseases of long voyages to hot climates, observes:

"So far as my observations go, I must subscribe to Dr. Cleghorn's opinion. I have frequently seen agues appear, when there was no reason to impute the cause to marshy effluvia; but merely to contagion. The following are a few of the many instances, which might be adduced in support of this opinion. Several years ago I attended a lady in a palsy, who lived in a town where no ague prevailed, and was confined to a three pair of stairs room: yet, nevertheless, she took a tertian, where no occasional cause could be imputed except contagion.

"A few years after, a gentleman ill of the palsy, as also his servant maid, were attacked with intermittents, and no other cause could be assigned, except the visit of another maid servant, who lived in the country who was ill of an ague.

"A person ill of an ague visited a child, in a high and airy situation; and when the feverish state began to subside, had much intercourse with it. The child in a few days took the disease.

"An adult person whose habits and manner of life, made him by no means subject to an intermittent, called upon a friend who was sweating profusely in the paroxysm of a tertian. The effluvia arising from the patient's body, he said, he received by inspiration; the scent, of which he never afterwards could get rid of: In a few days he was seized with an intermittent, with severe quotidian paroxysms, attended with delirium, and great irritability of stomach.—In the third paroxysm I visited him; and he then appeared to be in so great danger, that every measure was instantly made use of to break the force of the next fit; which succeeded; but he continued for some weeks extremely weak.

"Since I was elected physician to the Newcastle infirmary, in May 1788, I have had six instances of agues being communicated from one person to another by contagion.—And the same thing has happened to some of the other medical gentlemen in the hospital. The infirmary is situated in a dry, airy situation; and agues have not been known to happen in the house, except when other patients have been admitted labouring under the disease. In the cases I have alluded to, the persons infected with the ague were in the high wards; and lay in beds, contiguous to patients who communicated the distemper.

"The remittent fever, which proved so destructive to the imperial army in Hungary, spread by contagion; became exceedingly mortal, and was propagated over Germany, and great part of Europe.

"Dr. Schotte, a German physician, supposes that the contagion, which produced the remittent fever at Senegal, in 1788, was brought from Goree, by some black messenger; but Dr. Clark observes, that this does not seem to be clearly ascertained—for the remittent fever there, generally happens during the rainy season: but when the rains are heavy and overflow the island, the fever assumes a malignant continued form.

"The author gives this fever the name of synochus atrabiliosa; but it appears to be precisely a remittent fever, of a malignant nature—and indeed he confesses, that it only differs in the beginning from the fever which is called bilious, or from that which goes by the name of yellow, by the severity of its symtpoms."

Dr. Lind, in his "observations on the diseases of hot climates," p. 118. observes, "That the remarkable dissolution of the blood, the violent hemorrhages, the black vomit, and the other symptoms which characterize the yellow fever, are only accidental appearances in the common fever of the West-Indies. They are to be esteemed merely as adventitious, in the same manner as purple spots and bloody urine are in the small-pox, or as an hiccup in the dysentery; like these, they only appear when the disease is accompanied with a high degree of malignity, and therefore always indicate great danger. They in general proceed from intense heat and a peculiar unhealthfulness of the air, though from a gross habit of body, excessive drinking of spirituous liquors, and being over heated in the sun, may perhaps dispose to them."

Page 121.—"I have perused many English accounts both in manuscript and print, of this fever, (remitting) in most of which the authors have agreed only in the common epithet of yellow, from the skin's being frequently tinged with that colour. But the same appearance is also usual in most intermitting fevers, in some contagious fevers, and in many other fevers, so cannot properly be a distinguishing mark of this."

"This fever has been supposed by some to have been first imported to the West Indies by a ship from Siam: an opinion truly chimerical; as similar diseases have made their appearance, not only in the East and West Indies, but in some of the southern parts of Europe, during a season when the air was intensely hot and unwholesome. This happened at Cadiz in Spain in the months of September and October 1764, when excessive heat, and want of rain for some months, gave rise to violent epidemic bilious disorders, resembling those of the West Indies, of which an hundred persons often died in a day. At this time, the winds blew mostly from the south, and, after sun-set, there fell an unusual and very heavy dew."

Doct. John Hunter, in his observations on the diseases of the army in Jamaica, says, "the yellow fever is to be considered, only, as a more dangerous form of the remittent fever. And there can be no doubt that the remitting fever not only appears in different seasons and situations with very different degrees of severity; but also that while the remittent fever prevails in its usual form in the West India islands, some individuals, particularly those who are newly arrived, will be affected with very remarkable yellowness, as well as bilious and black vomitings."

Doctor Lind (of Windsor) also mentions, That the putrid remitting fever which raged at Bengal in the year 1762, was highly contagious.—Page 36.—And Dr. Lind (of Haslar) relates, that a hospital at Jamaica was intirely deserted, in consequence of its situation nigh a large marsh which very shortly converted the most simple intermittent into yellow fevers.—Page 178—Diseases of hot Climates.—Dr. Lind (of Haslar) speaking of the remittent fever, observes, that this disease is the autumnal fever of all hot countries, the epidemic disease between the tropics, and the disease most fatal to Europeans in all hot and unhealthy climates:—The most powerful of all the remote causes is justly thought, by him, to be the effluvia of marshes; and hence, evidently, proceeds the extreme unhealthiness of a place called Culpee, on the eastern banks of the Ganges; the shores about it are full of mud, and the banks covered with trees. Opposite the place where the ships lay there is a creek, and about a mile from its entrance, stands the town of Culpee; the ships lye about a mile from the shore; none of the sailors on board the ships at this place enjoyed their health. It was once customary to send some of the company's servants here to receive the cargoes of the ships and send them to Calcutta; but so many of them died on this duty, that the company was at length obliged to dispense with it. The noxious vapours arising from fens spread but a little way. Dr. Lind has often known ships crews at a very little distance from the shore quite free from this disorder. But although these marsh miasmata first bring on the disease, yet contagion particularly spreads it, and renders it more epidemic. Thus the Drake Indiaman continued free from the disorder for two weeks together, when she had no communication with the other ships; whereas, as soon as the disorder was brought on board, many were seized with it, within a few days, in such a manner as to leave no room to entertain the least doubt concerning its pestilential nature."

An English physician, quoted by Dr. Clark, vol. 2, p. 314, make the following remarks:—"The cold easterly winds, prevailing in the months of April and May 1790, gave most of the complaints of that season, the intermittent or remittent type. The former, in some parts of the country, were so common as to be epidemic; and, upon more minute inspection, one might easily trace contagion as one of the causes of the complaints. In a work of importance in the neighborhood, this disease raged with such violence, as to raise serious alarms for the consequences. My attendance being requested, I had an opportunity of observing the progress of the disease. At my first visit I found whole families attacked with the complaint, and no sooner had it entered a family, but the wife took it from her husband, and communicated it to her children."

Republicanism in France, pure and undefiled!

Two Directors and more than sixty members of the two Councils, arrested, banished and their property sequestered—and the elections of forty-two departments annulled—thirty-two Journals suppressed, their editors and printers arrested—by a sovereign and a despotic arret of three Directors, in violation of all laws, of the constitution and of every principle of justice!! Now, say the tytrants, the republic is saved!! This surely must be a "terrible republic."

Freedom of the Press in France!

The Executive Directory have ordered thirty-two Editors of Paris Journals to be confined in the Prison of La Force, all of them accused of being Conspirators. These it seems are to have the form of a Trial, although the Deputies were banished without such a ceremony. It is easy to foresee that the Editors must follow the Deputies.

R. I. Paper.

NEW-YORK, November 12.

The news from Boston confirms our expectations of a continuance of the war.—We do not know the terms of peace which have been offered by the contending parties—but it is rational to suppose the Emperor and Great Britain wish for peace on terms sufficiently humiliating, tho' it is not probable they would be willing to give all and obtain nothing by a pacification. France also wishes for peace, but the terms demanded are probably very high.

Our only hopes of peace have uniformly been founded on the ascendancy of the party which has been proscribed. This expulsion leaves no prospect of a pacification.—Whatever may have been the process of the negociation, or by whosoever fault it has been broken off, one thing appears certain, that the violent revolutionists have had it in view and still persist in it, of demolishing all the old governments of Europe, or of bringing them all to the feet of the "Terrible Republic." The truce, the summer past, has only given those men the better opportunity to mature their schemes. The declaration of independence by the German Provinces on this side the Rhine, leaves no room to question that the Directory have been intriguing to bring about that event.—It is all one consistent plan of revolutionizing the world, proclaimed by the French four years ago. Europe must still bleed—and happy will this country be, to escape a convulsion.

A friend has put into our hands a petition addressed by a large body of the merchants of Nantz, to the Council of Five Hundred, in favour of the American commerce.—This was designed to counteract the effects of another petition presented by the merchants and owners of privateers, "praying the council to fix with certainty the political and commercial relations between France and the United States, and to put an end to the diversity of opinions on this important subject, whether among the members of the Directory, or the judiciary or the legislative body."

After answering many declamatory passages in the first petition, the merchants of Nantz reply to the charge against the Americans, that they had sold them a great deal of bad flour at exorbitant prices: This flour they state, was mostly purchased by the commissaries of the republic, and that which was shipped by private adventurers, was open to inspection—no frauds were practised to obtain a high price. The merchants speak respectfully of the succours granted by our government and by private donations to the refugees from the Colonies.

In speaking of the arret of March 2d, they say the decree was partial, precipitate, contradictory, and insufficient.—Partial, by involving many innocent persons, who had no suspicion of their intentions. Precipitate, in requiring immediate execution of a decree that ought to have been notified to American navigators, before subjecting them to its penalties. It is certain say they that none of them could suspect they had occasion for the role of equipage in the form prescribed by that arret. The treaty of 1778 does not mention the role; but a passport only, and the form to which the 27th article refers, appears to require no more than the passport by means of which all the preliminary formalities are judged to be fulfilled. It is true, they say, that the most eminent jurists in France differ as to the real sense of the formula.—This should be a reason for judging the Americans with less severity. But, say they, why have not the Americans been notified that they were not in rule, when they were bringing corn to France and carrying on the French coasting trade. Men who have been so well received ought not to expect to be treated as enemies, without a declaration of war.—The arret is contradictory; for an American captain who meets no privateer and reaches a French port, is received as a friend—but if he meets with a French privateer, he is taken and condemned.—It is insufficient, for tho designed to prevent fraud, it only serves to conceal it the better.

They conclude by declaring that the arret will bring ruin on many American families and on many of the French Colonists, the wrecks of whose fortunes are on board the captured vessels—it will reduce the capital of many merchants in Holland, Hamburgh and Bremen, whose debtors have shipped goods to them on board these ships, and who have no other means of discharging their debt—In fine, they say it will alienate, perhaps for a generation, the affections of a nation, which is mostly devoted to France.

Nantz, 30th Thermidor, (August 17)

Here follow the names.

A Pamphlet is published in Connecticut, intitled "Georgia Speculation Unveiled;" by Abraham Bishop, of New-Haven; in which the writer attempts to prove the sales of the Georgia Western Lands to have been fraudulent, and the notes given for them of course voidable for want of consideration. He maintains that by a pamphlet circulated by the Georgia companies, called a "state of facts," and by other representations made by the sellers of the land, the purchasers were made to believe and contracted for the lands under the belief, that the state of Georgia and of course the companies actually possessed the fee of the lands; and that the Indians had retained only the right of hunting and fishing on them. Whereas the fact was, that the fee of the lands was, as it still is, in the natives.

On the ground of fraud, and want of consideration in the notes, the author contends, that Courts of Chancery have a right to interpose and declare the notes void. He instances the great case of the contracts for South Sea Stock, which Parliament, on account of the injustice of applying the ordinary rules of law to them, interposed their sovereign power to modify, in order to save multitudes from ruin.

The cases are not exactly similar, but he maintains that the Georgia business was a scheme of swindling, worse in principle than the south sea bubble, and like that, is a case of such immense injustice and fraud, as to require a suspension of the ordinary rules of law.

The pamphlet is a work of ingenuity, and the subject very interesting. A second number will appear in a few weeks, in which the writer will publish the documents to substantiate his reasoning.

AFFAIRS OF ITALY.

CORRESPONDENCE,

Between Gen. Buonaparte and the ministers of his Sardinian Majesty, relative to the late insurrection which broke out in Piedmont.

FIRST LETTER.

From the Chevalier Damien Priocca.
Turin, July 11, 1797.

CITIZEN GENERAL,

Some symptoms of insurrection have just manifested themselves at Fossano and its environs, the cause of which appears to be accidental, but which may involve consequences of the highest importance, unless they be speedily remedied. In communicating them to you, Citizen General, I am actuated by a double motive: In the first place, that I may afford you a testimony of the confidence which his Sardinian Majesty's government repose in you: and secondly, to acquaint you that his majesty, tho resolved on employing lenient measures to resort tranquility, may perhaps be compelled to restore to rigorous ones, in order to subdue and bring back to a sense of their allegiance those who may prove more stubborn and pertinacious. His majesty reflects, with satisfaction, that should he be under the necessity of energetic measures, the French government, far from holding such a conduct derogatory to the constant esteem which his majesty entertains for them, would, on the contrary, attribute it solely to the mere desire of stopping the progress of ill-intentioned persons, if any such exist, and of maintaining in that country that state of tranquility so necessary to ends which the two governments are anxious to accomplish.

The position of Fossano, to the left of the Stura, may probably make it necessary to advance some troops beyond the ancient line of demarcation, which no longer exists, and to the distance of less than four miles from the fortresses occupied by the French. As the gen. in chief is informed of the object of these measures, he will be, doubtless, induced not only not to oppose them, but also to refuse his countenance to the insurgents, should they apply to him for succour. Full of confidence in your loyalty and your sincerity, his majesty hopes that he may be soon enabled to acquaint you of the perfect re-establishment of tranquility.

I have the honor to be,
With respectful consideration,
Citizen General, &c. &c.
(Signed) DAMIANO PRIOCCA.

Answer of the Gen. in Chief, Buonaparte.

Head-quarters at Milan, 4th Thermidor.

I do not perceive, sir, any inconvenience that can arise from your advancing the necessary number of troops beyond the line of demarcation, in order to maintain tranquility and good order in the states of his majesty.

I have given the strictest orders to the garrisons of the different towns we occupy, not to intermeddle in the slightest manner in the interior affairs of your country. You may rest satisfied, sir, of the interest I shall always take in doing every thing that may be agreeable to his majesty, and of the desire I feel to contribute in any shape to the tranquility of his realms. Mr. Borghese has mentioned to me his majesty's desire to draw some corn from the districts occupied by the French troops: I most readily acquiesce in it, and pray you to believe the singular consideration and esteem with which I am, &c. &c.

(Signed) BUONAPARTE.

SECOND LETTER.

From the Chevalier Priocca.
Turin, July 25.

CITIZEN GENERAL,

The minister of foreign affairs M. Testi, has acquainted me with the establishment of the Cisalpine republic, and I immediately returned him such an answer as was calculated to maintain the best understanding between the two powers.

As you seemed to have at heart the acknowledgement of that republic, on the part of our government, I feel eager, citizen general, to apprise you of it, that you may thereby perceive how highly I value your councils, and the interest you feel for the happiness of this country.

The affairs of this country unfortunately begin to take a serious turn; the malcontents pursue their intrigues, and continue their movements with increased ardour.

If under these circumstances, citizen general, you should deem it expedient to express, by some public writing, how unwilling the French republic is to give any room to suppose, that the malcontents were authorized to boast of the support of its agents, or of those of the Cisalpine republic, I should feel highly grateful for that new mark of your friendship, the continuance of which I would endeavour to deserve by every means in my power.

Mr. Bossi will probably have the honor of giving you more particular accounts relative to the situation of this country: I have authorised him to remain at head quarters, in order to keep with you a more direct correspondence: and I entreat you to receive him kindly, whenever he may have occasion to entertain you with our confidence in the loyalty of the French, and with the respectful consideration with which I am, &c. (Signed)

PRIOCCA.

Buonaparte's reply to this letter was, that his letter to the Marquis de St. Marsan might be published, which is as follows:

Letter from the general in chief Buonaparte to the Marquis de St. Marsan.

Head quarters, Milan, 21 Messidor.

I have received M. le Marquis, the letter from M. de Priocca, minister of his Sardinian majesty, which you had the goodness to forward to me.

I, in consequence of it, gave orders to the general of division Souret, and to the general who commands at Cuneo, to allow a free access into the fortresses of Tortona, Alexandria, Cherasco, Ceva, and Cuneo, to an engineer officer whom his majesty may appoint, to inspect in person the works which M. de Priocca supposes are carrying on in these forts: and which, it should appear, occasion him some uneasiness.

The officers who shall be sent by his majesty will be able to assure him, that I carry on no works in the fortresses of Piedmont; that it is impossible to be more pleased than we are with the conduct of his majesty's cabinet towards the French republic; and that so far from wishing to give the least room for any uneasiness, that on the contrary I am ready to do any thing his majesty may require, in order to assure him, and which may contribute to the tranquility and prosperity of a court, that for some months past has given us the most sincere tokens of its kind intentions towards us.

I have sent no troops from Lombardy into Piedmont, because it was never my intention to send any thither. Indeed it were my wish to send a battalion of Poles to Cuneo, in order to unite to the army the 45th demi-brigade. But if his Majesty signifies the least desire that such a measure should not take place, I will give it up; and I am also ready, if his Majesty is displeased with any of the generals or officers employed in his dominion, immediately to displace them.

Being informed, that M. Ransa was endeavouring by incendiary publications, to stir up an insurrection in his majesty's dominions; and being likewise informed that he was at Milan, I ordered him to be taken into custody, and to be confined in a castle of this city.

I entreat you, M. le Marquis, to acquaint me before your departure from Milan, with every thing that I can do that may convince his majesty of the friendly sentiments of the French republic towards him; and with the desire I feel to make myself useful, and to contribute to the welfare of his majesty's dominions, and to his own private happiness. Be pleased to rest assured of the esteem and high consideration with which

I am &c. &c.

(Signed) BUONAPARTE.

THIRD LETTER OF M. D. PRIOCCA.

Turin, August 1.

Deeply impressed with the interest you take in the internal tranquility of this country, I have to inform you, that it would be perfectly re-established, if the brigands who particularly take refuge in the Genoese territories, did not spread themselves about in all directions, to take advantage of the disorders that may still prevail in some of the neighbouring provinces. As I am satisfied that you will hear with satisfaction, that the Piedmontese have evinced great energy against them, I flatter myself that I shall soon be able to acquaint you, that order and tranquility are restored on the frontiers.—I beg you may rest assured of the loyalty of the king, and of his friendship for the French republic in all his measures; and of the sentiments of esteem he entertains for you. I have the honor to be,

With respectful consideration, Citizen General, &c.

(Signed) D. PRIOCCA.

BUONAPARTE'S ANSWER.

I learn with satisfaction, sir, that the critical situation in which Piedmont has been placed for a few moments, is happily gone by; and that you will hereafter have nothing to alarm you. I make no doubt, but that the wisdom of his majesty and of his ministers will speedily succeed in re-establishing the internal tranquility of the country.

(Signed) BUONAPARTE.

MELANCHOLY FIRE!!

About one o'clock we were alarmed with the cry of Fire from the house of Mr. Moses Savory, which was so enveloped in flames before it was discovered, that it was in a short time entirely consumed with all its contents, and painful to relate, two young men apprentices to Mr. Savory, perished in the flames.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Nassau, New-Providence, to his friend at Wilmington, N. C. dated Sept. 26.

"We have lately very providentially escaped a most hellish plot—A parcel of French negroes who have been captured and sold here, and who had run away from their owners, entered into a conspiracy (about thirty in number) to burn the town and make a general massacre of the whites. They had the promise of a great many slaves to join them immediately on their beginning the horrid business. Their scheme could not have been planned by any set of men, and would undoubtedly have occasioned an immense bloodshed had they carried it into effect; but one of them who had been compelled to take the oath, divulged the secret to his master a few hours before the massacre was to have began. A party of men were immediately collected and sent after the villains: only a few had yet assembled; five of them were taken; the principal ringleaders made two of that number; they were all condemned, and three executed; the other two will share the same fate in a day or two. The principal ringleader was a notorious fellow in the dreadful business of St. Domingo, who met his fate with the greatest composure and resignation, saying, as he approached the place of execution, that he was content to die, as he had murdered many a white man in his time.

A certain great body will in a few days commence their operations; when, if some, stung with the wrongs and indignities of an injured country, assume the attitude of GLADIATORS or of MADMEN, it is to be hoped we shall not again see others in the degrading and insulting attitudes of shufflers, Proteus's, French hirelings, and traitors.

The French Constitution of the third year, or the third French Constitution, never received the approbation of the writers in the Aurora. We know they are principled against every system but a pure democracy, a government of one branch, like that of Robespierre, or the former government of Pennsylvania.

The late tornado in France, which has swept away the two representative branches is therefore approved of by the Aurora, as a return to a single branch government. For tho it cannot now be called a representative government, on a purely democratical plan, yet it may be queried whether more than four or five men are not the efficient agents in any popular single branch government that ever was formed. If demagogues did not believe, or know this to be the case they would never clamour for a simple democracy.

While the war shall continue in Europe, it is not probable, or scarcely possible that the United States can suffer more than they do at present by French depredation on their commerce. It is to be feared from present appearances, that France does not intend to alter her conduct altho to an eye of reason it would appear that she has much more to expect from us by a just and honourable treatment especially while the war continues, than by pursuing her present system.

Our government has at present but a choice of difficulties; either to interdict foreign commerce, or to permit our merchants to arm. In the latter case we should preserve much property which is now plundered from us by the picaroons in the West-Indies. In the former, we might make our enemies suffer, and might possibly bring them to terms of justice; but at an incalculable sacrifice. Government will probably wait the result of the pending negociations. All calculations on this point however baffle conjecture for things are now strangely ordered in France.

It ought never to be forgotten that the enemies of the government of this country have been uniform apologists for every atrocity that has been perpetrated by the successful faction of the day in France. They are now in course, consigning the fallen victims of the dominant faction to obloquy. It is to be observed, that while they attempt to prove that these men were intriguing to restore monarchy, they implicate them in all the principal measures adopted for the extermination of royalty. If the characters given in the Aurora, of the transported deputies are just, it is evident that no men in the nation would have had less to expect from a restoration of the Bourbon family to the throne than they. If monarchy should ever be restored in France, it can only be done by means of the military. It appears that the directory is the only branch of the government that has intrigued with the armies. To them the directory ascribe their success in the late contest with the legislative branches. Had the councils succeeded by the same means, the Aurora writers would have said that the Constitution of France, was annihilated.

Almost every member of the Council of 500, who were chosen for the new third last spring, have had their seats vacated by the directory, after holding them five or six months. This "extra-constitutional step" as the Autora would call it, was not taken, till the sense of the army was ascertained.

The condemnation of the members of the legislature of France, by the directory, without trial, is justified by the Aurora, on this ground. "They would have been found innocent by the tribunals. The judges of the tribunals in France are appointed in the same manner, in which their legislative councils are, immediately by the people."

Thus it appears, that the people of France are not to be trusted either in their elections of legislators or judges. Can it be believed that a few royalists have in almost every instance controuled the first free elections under the constitution of the third year? No—the most natural, the most obvious reflection is, that the people of France wish for peace, and a state of internal security, which seven year's experience have shewn them, it is vain to expect so long as their public affairs are bandied about from faction to faction. Hence their election of such men as judges and legislators, who were laboring to bring about peace, in a constitutional way. For this, they are proscribed and banished, without the forms of justice.

Commerce, Chamberlain, Portland, N. H.

Brig Maris Woodward, Jacquel

Sch'r Little Will, Pearson, Port-au Prince

Thomas, Wood, Ditto

Landlady, Foster, Liverpool, N.S.

Sloop Brilliant, Watson, Norfolk

The ship Roba & Betsey, Nimmo, drove from her anchors, in the gale on Wednesday last, and bore away for the Chesapeake.

Five brigs are below.

Captain Tatem left at La Guira the 18th ult. the ship Henrietta, Weeks, and sch'r Minerva, Moodey, of this port, the latter to sail in 10 days; brig Harriot and Ann, Rider of Charleston, for Curracoa and home in 8 days and brig Maria, Keyram Walsh, of Portsmouth N.H. for Boston in 15 days.

The ship Concord, Thompson 104 days from Batavia, is below. The Concord left this port ten months ago.

The Aurora, Suter, 47, and Sally, Dosson, 57 days from Hamburgh, arrived at the Pint last evening.

The Pennsylvania, Williamson, and Holbrook, M'Call, have arrived at Hamburgh from hence.

Captain Suter passed a ship in the Elbe, which he took for the Charlotte, Dannenberger, from hence.

The Nassau (late Indostan), Merchant, of this port, was ready to sail for Batavia, under Danish colours.

The Æriel, Tarris, had sailed for Havre, several days before the Aurora.

The Aurora sailed from Hamburgh the 2d of October: Mr. Gerry had not arrived at Amsterdam the 12th September. Fayette was expected at Hamburgh to take passage in the ship John, of Boston.

The ship Cleopatra, from Lisbon; the ship Roba and Betsey from Bristol, and several other vessels are arrived in the Deleware.

Arrived yesterday, in 14 days from New-Providence, the ship Asia, capt. Yard, who favored us with the following

Remarks.—The Asia sailed from New-Providence November 4th, in company with brig Dolly, of New-York, a schooner belonging to Wiscasset, and an English brig and sloop, under convoy of his Britannic Majesty's ship Squirrel, capt. Hardy, who saw us safe to the latitude 29. N. wished us well and parted.

Left in N. Providence the ship Circumnavigator, of Boston, from Havanna, sent in by the privateer Scourge of Regicides. She will be suffered to proceed home without any papers.

The schooner Hawk, of Baltimore, bro't in on suspicion of contraband goods, not yet cleared.

Schooner Adventure, of Baltimore, bro't in with contraband goods; cargo condemned, vessel libelled.

Ship Two Friends, of New-York, from New-Orleans; part of her cargo condemned as Spanish property, the ship restored.

Brig Hector, from Charleston, with corn.

A ship from Charleston, brought in on suspicion of contraband goods, not yet cleared.

The ship Louisa, Baltimore, Champlin, sailed for Havanna, after a few days detention.

In a violent gale of wind on the 15th and 16th of October, there were cast away and lost a number of vessels belonging to different parts of the United States, on the coast of Florida; the crews of several had arrived at New-Providence; the vessels and captains names are—brig Commerce, Baltimore, Gardiner, vessel totally lost on key Largo, after suffering the greatest hardships for three days, without either food or water, was taken off the key by an English privateer, and humanely treated.

Schoonar Diligence of Portland, Capt. Crabtree. Vessel totally lost on Abano, part of the cargo saved.

Brig ——, of Bristol, R. I. from Havanna, Capt. Trownston, vessel totally lost on Florida, part of the cargo saved.

Ship Experiment, capt. Brownlow, from Charleston for Havanna, foundered in the Gulf, after being 16 days at sea in his boat, he arrived at New-Providence in a dreadful situation from hunger, thirst, and exposure to the weather.

Several other vessels were lost in the same gale, but their names are not known.

All these unfortunate people were saved by the wreckers in New-Providence, and it is but justice to speak highly of their kindness and humanity to the distressed seamen, who must inevitably have perished, had they not come forward and exerted themselves to save their lives.

NASSAU, (N. Providence) Oct. 31.—In the gale of the 16th inst. the ship Speedwell, Brownlow, from Charleston for New-Orleans, foundered in the Gulph.—The captain, with his passengers and crew, 21 in all, arrived here last evening in an open boat, after having, for fourteen days, been exposed to extremities which seem almost beyond the power of human nature to have surmounted. The benevolent disposition of the inhabitants of this place, which has been so often exerted in behalf of the indigent and distressed, we are confident will be displayed on the present occasion—and there rarely has occurred one which called more loudly for relief.

The printers in the United States are requested to insert the following Observations in their papers, by which the public will be served, as well as their obedient servant.

B. LINCOLN, Superintendant of Light-Houses, State of Massachusetts.

BY order of the United States, a Light House has been erected at the Clay Ponds, on Cape Cod; the lamps in which are to be lighted on the 15th inst. The light house is erected on land elevated about 150 feet, which with the elevation of the Lantern makes the whole heighth 200 feet above high water mark. In order that this Light may be distinguished from the Boston and other Lights on our coast, an Eclipser is erected, which will revolve around the Lamps once in 80 seconds so that the light will be nearly excluded from the eye of the approaching mariner about thirty seconds, in one revolution of the eclipser. To render the benevolent designs of Congress as extensively useful as possible, the Marine Society in Boston, by a large Committee from their body, whose views have been seconded by others, have taken such distances and bearings as they thought necessary; which observations giving light and safety are added for the benefit of all interested—and are as follows——

Vessels outward bound, from Boston Light-house, and would wish to fall in with Cape-Cod the course is E. S. E. distance 15 leagues, thence 3 leagues to the Light house. When up with the Light-house and it bears S W 2 leagues distance, you then steer S S E which will carry you out of the south channel.

Vessels inward bound, and fall in with the back of Cape-Cod, bring the Light to bear S W 2 leagues distance, then you may steer W N W for Boston Light-House.

If you you would wish to go into Cape Cod harbor, you may keep the shore aboard about a mile distant, where you will have 10 fathoms water. There is a bar lies off the back of the Cape, about half a mile from the shore.

When up with Race-point, which is very bold, and about three leagues to the westward of the Light-house, and may be known by a number of fish houses on it, from 1 to 3 miles to the southward of Race-point, is what is called Herring Cove, where you may have good anchoring half a mile from the shore, the wind from E to N N E in 4 or even 3 fathom water.

If bound into Cape Cod harbor, your course from Race-point to Wood end, is S S E 6 miles distance, bring the light to bear E by N and run for it about two miles, you will then be clear of Wood end—then you must steer N E until the light bears E by S—then run N W for the harbor, until you have from 4 to 5 1-2 fathoms water, where you have good anchoring, the Light then will bear E by S 1-2 S 5 or 6 miles distance.

In running from the Race point to Wood End—after you pass the Black Land or Hummucks, you will come up with a low sandy beach, which forms the harbor; extending between 2 and 3 miles to Wood-end, which is difficult to be distinguished in the night—It is very bold—you will have 25 fathom water within half a mile of the shore.

In beating into Cape-Cod harbor, you must keep the eastern shore aboard, until you get into 5 fathom water. Stand no farther to the westward than to bring the light to bear E by S as there is a long spit of sand runs off from the western shore, which being very bold, you will have 11 fathom water within a stones throw of shore.

In case it blows so hard that you cannot beat in the harbor, you will have good anchoring without, from 10 to 15 fathom water.

Vessels in Boston bay and would wish to put away for Cape Cod harbor, must endeavor to fall in with the Race. If in the night, and you cannot see the land, you must bring the Light to bear E by N and run for it until you have soundings in 14 or 15 fathom water, then steer north east until the flight bears E by S then run in N W for the harbor.

At full and change, it is high water off Race Point at 10 o'clock and 45 minutes. Vessels in leaving Cape Cod bound to Boston, should calculate the tide, as the flood sets strong to the south west.

STAGES.

THE public are requested to take notice, that the partnership which has for some time subsisted between Mathias Slough of Lancaster, and William Geer, is now dissolved: but, not as M. Slough insinuates to the public without just cause; as will more fully appear by a letter on the subject from M. Slough to W. Geer, dated the 29th December last, a recital of which is not now deemed necessary. Any gentleman who wishes to be more circumstantially informed of the merits of this business, by applying to W. Geer may have the perusal of M. Slough's letter, and then can be at full liberty to determine whether or not W. Geer is not perfectly justifiable in attaching himself to any other person in the prosecution of the Stage conveyance from Philadelphia to Shippensburg, or any other place.

Now from the liberal and generous support the public were pleased to confer on the first effort in this business, William Geer, in conjunction with Messrs. Reily, Weed and Witmer, is determined to prosecute and carry it on, with every care, attention and dispatch that a zeal to oblige the public can possibly exert.

The above company, who are amply provided with carriages, horses, and every appurtenance to render the passage safe and commodious, inform those who wish to patronize and encourage the undertaking, that they can take their seats at George Weed's, the sign of the White Horse, Market Street, Philadelphia, on every Monday and Friday, to proceed to Lancaster, Harrisburg, Carlisle and Shippensburg. The fare as hitherto established.

For the further accommodation of the public, a Stage will start every Wednesday from the house of Samuel Elder, in Harrisburg, arrive at Sunbury in Northumberland county, every Thursday, and return from thence and arrive at Harrisburg every Saturday, so that passengers destined for Lancaster or Philadelphia, may proceed on Mondays.

WILLIAM GEER.

Lancaster, Jan. 27, 1797.

N. B. This Line of Stages starts from the house of William Ferree, in Lancaster, on every Tuesday and Saturday morning at 6 o'clock, proceeding to the westward; and from the house of Mr. Samuel Elder in Harrisburg every Wednesday morning, on the same evening arrives at Patrick Cochran's in Shippensburg, and returns from thence on every Thursday: performing the same routine daily as in its tour from Philadelphia. mwf

50,000 Tickets, at Eight Dollars,		400,000

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

☞ Tickets may be had at the Bank of Columbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; of Peter Gilman, Boston; of John Hopkins, Richmond; and of Richard Wells, Cooper's Ferry.

The Philadelphia, Allsion, and Tuckerton

MAIL STAGE.

THE proprietors beg leave to inform the public, that they have established a Stage between Philadelphia, Allsion, Batsto, Hampton, Speedwell, and Martha Furnace, Wading River sitting mill; and the town of Tuckerton, in New-Jersey, to go once a week, and are provided with good horses, a comfortable carriage, and a careful driver, for the conveyance of the mail, passengers, and goods. The Stage will start every Thursday, at 10 o'clock, A. M. from Mr. Daniel Cooper's Ferry, and lodge that night at Joel Bodine's, at Longacoming; and on Friday, at 6 o'clock, P. M. arrive at Caleb Evans's, inkeeper, in Tuckerton, distant from the city 54 miles, (from the Atlantic 6, and from the East Grousing Plains 7 miles) where are good accommodations for travellers, and where are commodious and safe passage boats provided to convey passengers to Capt. William Warrington's house, on Tucker's Island, adjoinining the Atlantic, where are good accommodations, and a convenient place to bathe; the sportsman who wishes to regale himself with fowling and fishing, may at this place be highly gratified, there being at almost every season of the year fowl and fish in abundance.—The Stage on its return, starts from the aforesaid C. Evans's in Tuckerton, every Tuesday, at 6 o'clock, A. M. breakfasts at John Bodine's, at Wading River Bridge, lodge that night at Longacoming, and at 1 o'clock, P. M. on Wednesday, arrive at the aforesaid Cooper's Ferry. It is presumed that no route of an equal distance will be less expensive, or furnish the traveller with a greater variety of amusement, as he will not only have a pleasant sail to the atlantic from Tuckerton, but have the curiosity of seeing on the road thither a number of capital furnaces and forges, and one slitting mill, in complete order, and at work; gentlemen, too, who are owners, or factors, of any of the aforesaid iron works, are solicited to encourage and support this stage (by which they can be so well accommodated) the continuance of which will much depend on their aid. The rates of passengers and baggage are as follows: For a passenger from the aforesaid Daniel Cooper's Ferry to Tuckerton, including 14 lb. of baggage, Two Dollars; for way passengers per mile, Four Cents—150 lb. of baggage equal to a passenger. Postage of letters, newspapers, &c. will be agreeably to law.

N. B. The mail crosses from the Old Ferry.

THOMAS WARDLE & Co.

Tuckerton, Sept. 28. Oct. 5.—2awtf

The Norfolk Mail STAGE.

THIS Stage starts from the GEORGE Tavern, at the corner of Second and Arch Streets, in Philadelphia, every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 3 o'clock, in the morning; arrives at Dover the first day, at Snowhill the second day, at Northampton Court House the third day, and on the morning of the fourth day the passengers find a safe and comfortable packet to convey them to Norfolk.

A packet leaves Norfolk for Northampton ferry, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and the Stage starts from this ferry for Philadelphia, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday; puts up at Snow Hill the first night, at Dover the 2d night, and arrives in Philadelphia in the evening of the third day.

The distance on this route, between Philadelphia and Norfolk, is 20 miles less than on any stage route between those places.

Too much cannot be said in favor of the road, which is most excellent indeed. The proprietors willingly engage to return the whole fare to any passenger, who, after having performed this route, will say that he ever travelled in a stage for the same distance, so good a road in America.

PEALE's MUSEUM.

THIS valuable repository of the works of Nature, so well calculated to delight the mind and enlarge the understanding, is opened daily, as usual. It stands in an airy and healthy situation, and free from the epidemic that at present afflicts the city; it may, therefore, be frequented with the greatest safety.

As an Amusement, the study of Nature is the most rational and pleasing: as a Science, the most sublime and instructive. It elevates the mind and expands the heart. They

"Whom Nature's works can charm, with God himself
"Hold converse."

Many interesting additions have lately been made to this Museum: and the feathered tribe, containing a variety of the most rare and beautiful subjects, is now very advantageously arranged. Waxen Figures, of Men large as life (some of them casts from nature) are here dressed in their proper habits, and placed in attitudes characteristic of their respective nations. Here may be seen the North-American Savage, and the Savage of South-America—a laboring Chinese, and the Chinese Gentleman—the sooty African, and the Kamtschadale—with some Natives of the South Sea Islands. The immense variety and interesting diversity which this Museum offers to the view, may be seen but cannot be described with full effect.

☞ Price only 1-4th of a dollar.

Boston Glass Manufactory.

THE citizens of the United States are hereby informed, that the manufacture of Window Glass is now commenced at the Glass House in Boston.

It is needless to say any thing of the excellent quality of the Boston Glass, as it is so well known throughout the United States to be in every respect greatly superior to any ever imported from Europe.

It will be cut to any size commonly used; and may be constantly had by applying to CHARLES F. KUPFER, at the Glass House.

Orders from the distant States to be addressed to Mr. SAMUEL GORE, Court-Street, Boston.
